It's your (our) turn

Do participants have have similar experiences?

Is this good practice transferable to the contexts of the participants work? If yes, how? If no, why not?

Does the government have a role to play in building a volunteering infrastructure? What methods and tools can we use to lobby governments for more support?

What are the experiences with funding for the Volunteering Infrastructure of local support centres in Italy? What kind of mechanisms are used? What roles do the local bodies perform?

What role for different stakeholders and what mechanisms of governance, programming and control do you envisage for Voluntary Support Centres?
